

The International Grooming Company has designed an educational program for the groomer who is working in their own business and cannot take extended time off to attend full-time courses, or an employer who cannot let their staff off for a full-time course, but would like to ensure that they get the best training possible.

The general overview is

- Grooming workshops around the country
- Workshops at a central place within each state
- Ongoing education
- Train staff while still working
- Training for sole traders
- Provide qualification and certificates for existing groomers
- Opportunity to gain Industry Certificates and Nationally Recognised Certificates.
- Learn from some of the best in their field

The current directors of IGC are Sharon Hall and Julie McGrath.
